

Let me, on behalf of the Russian Chamber of Commerce and Industry, welcome the participants, visitors and organizers of the Russian Health Care Week 2016.

Development of the Russian health care system, promotion of healthy life style and provision of high-tech medical care are among priorities of the Russian national policy.

The Russian Health Care Week includes international exhibitions, congresses, conferences and forums. Among other things, these events aim to find solutions to national challenges and industry problems, introduce best practices and innovations, as well as train qualified personnel.

I am positive that the Russian Health Care Week will once again serve as a perfect platform for all interested parties to evaluate accomplishments of the Russian and global medicine, and learn about the latest equipment and high-tech developments of various companies which in its turn will benefit the Russian health care system.

Let me wish you every success and good health!

Vladimir Dmitriev
Vice President of the Russian Chamber of Commerce and Industry
